Significant progress for Vizgard - portfolio AI drone company

Mindflair plc, the AIM-quoted company focused on investing in Artificial Intelligence ("AI") related technology, is pleased to provide an update on its portfolio company Vizgard Limited ("Vizgard").

2025 was a successful year for Vizgard (https://vizgard.com/), with the company exceeding key milestones across product development and commercial execution. The company achieved significant growth in its SaaS revenues during the year, alongside global deployment of FortifAI and the successful build and launch of UnifAI.

Vizgard is currently participating in NATO's Defence Innovation Accelerator for the North Atlantic ("DIANA") programme, having been selected from nearly 4,000 applicants, with just 150 companies chosen globally. DIANA is a highly selective six-month accelerator focused on advancing cutting-edge dual-use technologies and includes up to €100,000 of investment.

Alex Kehoe, the founder and CEO of Vizgard explains that participation in DIANA provides Vizgard with a direct route to adoption, enabling NATO organisations to procure its technology via the Rapid Adoption Service, without the need for a separate competitive tender process. This allows Vizgard to accelerate deployment with real, paid end users across allied defence and security environments.
