Interview with the CEO of Stylus

Mindflair plc, the AIM-quoted company focused on investing in Artificial Intelligence ("AI") related technology, is pleased to share a video of an interview featuring Dominic Bristow, founder and CEO of LearnCycle Limited, trading as Stylus Education ("Stylus"), a portfolio company of Mindflair.

Stylus, an AI education technology company, has reported strong commercial momentum, with 50 new schools added to its customer base in January 2026 alone, almost exactly one year after signing its first customer. The interview highlights the company's continued progress as it expands the adoption of its AI-powered assessment platform within the education sector.

Dominic Bristow explains that the company is addressing a significant gap in the education market through an AI-powered end-to-end marking service for schools. He highlights Stylus's ability to improve the consistency and transparency of assessment, and notes that the company is now in its second year of working with the UK Department for Education through an innovation contract.
